John Thomas Torrissi, is a beloved third grade student at Woodland Elementary School in Warren, NJ. On the evening of February 12th, JT was taken to Overlook Emergency Room after complaining of a headache and subsequent vomiting. After extensive testing, a CT scan showed that JT had a brain bleed. Upon learning this, a medical decision was made to immediately transfer JT to Morristown Memorial Pediatric ICU for urgent care. The following morning, JT fell into a coma. Further testing showed he had suffered two small strokes.

In the months since JT first became ill, he has regained consciousness and is making remarkable progress in his recovery, but he still has a very long and difficult road ahead.

JT's mother Jessica is the sole caretaker and his care is her priority. Jessica needs to be with JT to make daily medical decisions and emotionally support him.

Your donation will help offset any bills she may accrue during JT's recovery and therapy.
